

A PERFECT CONUNDRUM

A "perfect" conundrum perplexes us all.
"Judge not," we are taught,
When almost everything is a judgement.

Take "perfect" for example,
And you see that nothing is.
That's a judgement.

Then we have to ask,
"What qualities determine perfect?"
And who decides?

More judgement.

It's everywhere! It's everywhere!

Ever seen a horrible tree?

Ever seen an ugly bird?

Ever seen a wretched flower?

Ever heard an awful sound?

What is nasty weather?

Can you tell the difference between
Fact,
Fiction,
Opinion, and Judgement?

Baby Love, Your life may depend upon it.
