

ONE IMPORTANT QUESTION

Please pardon the intrusion, Baby,
But there is a question you must answer
Before you can grow into your full potential.

Forgive its intimate nature, dear One,
And strive to understand the necessity of inquiring.
Many apologies in advance.

You see, Baby Love, we often neglect to discover
The most basic aspects of our personal nature.
Most humans leave their disappointed bodies in total ignorance
Of the possibility of true living.

So, in order to lead a full and joyful life,
You must begin by asking yourself:

WHO AM I?

Seeking the answer is a journey one chooses.
If you are intrigued—or offended—by the question,
You're ready to make the choice
And eligible for help:

HINT: You are neither your body, nor any of its roles.
You are neither your body, nor any of its roles.

Got it?

Off you go then.
Happy introspection!

What's that?
How can you tell when you find out who you are?

Oh, Baby!
You will laugh and laugh and laugh and
Never, never, ever
Be afraid of death!
