

OPPORTUNITY SELDOM KNOCKS

Opportunity seldom knocks.
It just breaks down the door and comes on in.
All the time.

But it requires a certain point of view
To recognize the monster as your best friend.

Here's the deal.

Once you're in a human body you're vulnerable
To a multitude of "problems," "challenges," "tests," "gifts,"
Or, you can label your own inevitable life experiences.

When you can authentically smile and
Call these so-called tests, "Opportunities,"
Then you're getting the hang of telling the truth, Baby Love.

Now. Practice.
Imagine big, hairy, drooling critters, stalking you,
Blocking you, distracting you while you journey
Through the maze of LIFE.

With regal poise, you turn, embrace them,
Call them by their true name:
"Opportunities for Illumination,"
And observe their transformation.

Immediately, they lose the hair, the drool,
They shrink, cuddle up, point out your Way,
And you BEHOLD THE HIDDEN OPPORTUNITY.

Simple.
Speaking the Truth is the only game on Earth
With a win-win guarantee.

Only necessary to still the waters,
Turn around, fearless,
And be kind.

Absolutely.

