

SOUL?Soul?*Who said Soul?

Where did that come from?

What is it, and how do we know?

To answer, Ageless Wisdom teaches observation:

Vegetable, mineral, and animal kingdoms are what they are.

They can't become anything else.

They have no morals or ethics, no good-bad call.

Genetically, they have no capacity to choose otherwise.

You see, Baby Love, the innate ability

To realize that choices are available

Comes way before "choosing" is possible.

Enter Soul, bringing empathy, thus sympathy, thus compassion,
Which mandate the concept, and necessity, of making "choices."Choosing makes humans become something different,Whether they think they are, or not.

Becoming something different, choice by choice,

Can be called by many names: evolution, growth, expansion, or degeneration,

But being genetically equipped with Soul, makes "choosing" mandatory.Truth be told, without Soul, there are no choices to be made.The real monkey wrench in the machinery of Soul,

Is the mysterious necessity of guiding principles

By which each human can decide what, or which, to choose.

Enter: morality, ethics, philosophies, values, beliefs, and mores.

BINGO! THE ENIGMATIC GOOD-BAD CALL.

Being anxious about making choices,

Disturbed about what principles should guide you,

Agitated about how to treat others, and

Perturbed about many more dilemmas,

Is proof of the presence of Soul.

Whoo Hoo! That's being human!!
