

INVISIBLE YOU ARE

Invisible you are, for

Mind is not in the brain,
Emotion is not in the heart,
Feeling is not in the wound, and
Personality has no life of its own,
But is known by the actions of your body
And the words of your mouth.

The desires of your body are reflected by your personality.

The desires of your soul are filtered by the desires of your body.

Until you recognize who you truly are,
And acknowledge why you're living in a body,
Then discern the difference between physical desires and spiritual desires,

—Both of which are entwined, existing, and expressing simultaneously—

Until then, your lessons will be harsh and many.

Face it, Baby Love,
All the way to Illumination,
The greatest mercy
Is that which gives you leave
To try again.
