

THE UNIVERSE IS NOT EQUIPPED

The universe is not equipped to deal with a vacuum.

When something changes form,
Another form fills that space,
Always.

And infinite layers of the formless
Pass through form
As if the universe were not there.

Then we have the audacity to separate the formless into “Dimensions,” “Universes,” “Realms,” and “Worlds,” ad infinitum.

Truth?

There is no separation, save to our temporary senses.
All is One, Interpenetrating, Interdependent,
And serving different Energetic requirements
Within the Singularity of Oneness.

That kinda-sorta re-locates the presence of
Omniscient, Omnipotent, and Omnipresent
From somewhere out there,
To an unfathomable intimacy with All.

Don't ya think?

