

THE WILL-SWITCHES

The MIND is an incessant and eternal Talking Machine,
 Drooling on about everything.

The caveat is that MIND can be directed to learn
 What you Will it to learn.

MIND is a sponge soaking up everything you aim your senses toward,
 and everything you expose it to, indiscriminately, accidentally, or on purpose.
MIND is non-local, residing outside your physical being, not inside your skull.

Are you ready, Baby?

There is only one MIND.

Your skull-enclosed local brain is a transponder working
 In coordination with your heart-brain,
 Home of your personal gifts and desires,
 And acting as inter-mediator between
 The Higher “Awareness of All,” and your piece of MIND—so to speak.

Here’s the deal you came in with:
 Your brain is sponge-tissue that receives electromagnetic current
 Whose absorption can be limited or stunted
 By lack of physical exposure to “new and different,”
 Or by absence of contemplation or meditation.

On the flip side, MIND—both local and Higher—is expanded by
 Your five physical senses and by your multiple non-physical perceptions.
 Yes. Everyone has some.

MIND can be expanded by indulging your curiosity and seeking answers,
 And by encouraging your hunger to know and learn—
 All actions are facilitated by volitional use of your Will-Switch.

Will you give free reign to your curiosity?
 Then, SWITCH OFF FEAR OF CONDEMNATION.

Will you indulge your hunger to know and experience?
 Then, SWITCH OFF TIMIDITY.

Will you take steps to guide your aspect of Mind toward awareness?
 Then, SWITCH ON EXPLORATION.

Use discernment, find the switches and flip them to turn on your life,
 Or don’t.

Your choice, Baby Love.

03/29/18